As Two More Bodies Are Found, Running List of Victims Up to Thirteen, Search Is Made for Mrs. Guinness' Supposed Slayer.

CHICAGO, May 6.-Late to-day Assistant Chief of Police Schueteler, of this city, announced that the links which connected the Laporte mystery with Chicago were so strong that he would start an investigation in this city without being asked to do so by the Indiana officials.

LAPORTE Ind., May 6,-From out of the mass of tangled and sensational evidence which indicates that Mrs. Bella Guinness was one of the monstrous murderers of the century, and that her beautiful and 233 well kept farm, a mile from Laporte, was a clearing-house of assassination, there developed to-day the startling theory that the woman did not die in the tire which destroyed her home on the night of April 28, and that she is still alive and in hiding, probably in Chicago.

This suggestion came as the skeleton of a seventh body was unearthed on the Guinness farm this afternoon. This was the second corpse found to-day, which runs the list of murder victims up to 234 thirteen.

JAMAICA RACE TRACK, May 6.—The bookmakers had their linning to-day, and up to the fourth race, the Columbus Stakes, they got , all the money. Four favorites were knocked down in a row. Each was heavily backed, too, and the books were thousands to the good.

When the field went to the post in the first race, Jane Swift was the first of the favorites to fail the public. She ran second to Grimaldi. 0 In the second, Opal, the choice, bolted when six lengths in front, and saved the ring a trimming.
